GUHRING – YOUR WORLD-WIDE PARTNER

Retooling – Expert know-how by your side

You need support in upgrading or converting new or existing machines to a new process? Our experts in the retooling sector take over the entire project management and ensure the perfect process. We design and optimise tools and tool holding systems and accompany you to the final acceptance of the process. We stay in close contact with your planning personnel and machine manufacturers in order to perfectly synchronise all components.

over 600 realised projects annually

With approximately 200 employees and in excess of 20 years experience around 600 projects are realised annually within the Guhring Group in the original equipment sector. Our expert team of engineers, technicians, designers and sales personnel supports machine manufacturers and users world-wide in various industries in the design of new tooling concepts. We are by your side with our expert know-how as an experienced project partner from the planning stage to commissioning and throughout series production.
